DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 1/11/07 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 37-43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Janosky (EP 1407893) in view of Higuma et al (USPN 6,332,679)

With respect to claims 37-43, Janosky discloses a surface treatment apparatus comprising:

- A sheet heating unit (fig.1, fig.2: element 22) which heats a sheet (14);

Art Unit: 2853

- A contact member (fig.2: element 26) for transferring a surface quality thereof to a surface of the image recording layer;
- A sheet cooling unit (fig.2: element 38) which cools the sheet while in contact with the contact member;
- A plurality of contact members (fig.2: element 28, 30, 32, 26) having different surface qualities;
- A contact member selecting unit which selects a contact member having a desired surface quality from the plurality of contact member having a different surface qualities (Column 3: line 41-58);
- The contact member is a member selected from a roller and an endless belt (Fig.2: element 30, 26);
- A surface quality of the contact member is varied so that one of a gloss treatment and a matt treatment is given to the sheet (Column 5: line 3-30);
- A user information providing unit for providing user information containing the contact member surface quality data (Column 4: line 1-3);
- The contact member selecting unit, a desired surface quality if selected based on user information provided by the user information unit (Column 4: line 1-3, Column 6: line 30-37).

However, Janosky fails to teach the sheet having at least a base, a recording layer and a thermoplastic resin layer disposed on the base.

Higuma teaches the sheet having at least a base and a thermoplastic resin layer disposed on the base (Column 3: line 40-45).

Art Unit: 2853

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to coat the substrate with a thermoplastic resin layer as taught by Higuma. The motivation of doing so is to provide a permeation property and to prevent retaining mush of the inks and color material.
